On Saturday, May 15, 2004, the new civil rights movement will march on Washington on the 50-year anniversary of Brown v. Board of Education to demand an end to separate and unequal education in America. We march to put an end to the ongoing right-wing attacks on affirmative action, civil rights and immigrants rights. We march to launch a new phase of struggle to realize the simple promise of Brown v. Board of Education - the promise of integration and equality in American education at all levels.

Defeat the Right-Wing Attacks on Civil Rights and Immigrants!

No More Separate and Unequal Education!
